ING, Regional Head

I always thought that I am good at designing, I had designed few logos for a few of my friends too and which were liked too but I was not happy with my own logo hence asked PM team to do something. He gave me the first option & I didn't feel like seeing another. Since then he has been the creative mentor for us. Thanks PM. Best wishes for a bright future...

PM is the one of upcoming web designers one should look out for. They are an individual who possesses a rare ability of creating ideas by the flick of the hand. Right from the beginning of the project of redesigning our corporate website, we knew we were operating on a tight schedule, and at certain junctures our team was doubtful about the timely launch of the site. All this while, he went about his work in an extremely professional manner keeping a cool head, conceptualizing ideas at will, and executing things with precision. The end product turned out to be more than what we had expected, one which gave the entire team at Incube immense satisfaction. What stood out apart from his technical knowhow and skills, was their passion for designing and his ability to create stunning yet workable design concepts in no time. This passion and exuberance is something which seems to be missing in the current lot of designers.

We wish to thank you for taking a lot of pain and putting in a lot of hard work for revamping the web-site of Incube Group. I must say that I was impressed by your attention to even minor details and the manner in which you treated this web-site as if it was the web-site of your own company, thus displaying a sense of ownership apart from responsibility. We are very happy with the design, the content, navigability and over-all presentation of the web-site. Incube Group is very happy with the association with you and we hope that we can leverage your strengths in many more tasks that we have.
